

Library & Webpage Use Policies

- The Pierce County Law Library does not provide any legal advice to any person and is not engaged in the practice of law. The information is provided solely as a service to our website visitors.
- The purpose of the Pierce County Law Library website is to serve the legal and law related information needs of the county, including judges, county officials, members of the bar and other county residents. Links that appear on the Pierce County Law Library's Website do not constitute an endorsement by the Law Library. The Pierce County Law Library's Website is not intended to be a public forum. When you link to another site, you are no longer on the Pierce County Law Library's Website.
- We make no claims, promises, or guarantees about the accuracy, completeness, or adequacy of any information found on this website or through a link on this website. You should carefully review any information to determine its accuracy, relevance, timeliness, and completeness.
- By using this website and its links, you acknowledge and agree that Pierce County Law Library and its staff are not responsible for any errors or omissions on this website or any site linked to from this site, nor for any damages resulting or alleged to result from its use or application. If you choose to download and/or use files from the internet, you assume full responsibility from any resulting loss or damage.
- Information you found on the internet is no substitute for competent legal advice. We recommend you consult a lawyer.